WHAT'S THE RISK?

From the time children can move they have the innate motivation to take risks. As they continue to grow, children want and need more risk-taking opportunities in order to develop self-esteem, confidence and independence. Yet, we have entered an era of "helicopter parenting" and "being as safe as possible" where children are being stopped from testing out their abilities and taking appropriate risks. This has a lifelong effect on overall child development. Let's be the change for our children. Let's embrace risky play and give children back their independence.

WHAT TO EXPECT

This workshop will answer:

- What is risky play?
- What happens when we restrict children's play?
- What are the benefits of trusting your children to take risks?
- How can you help children learn to assess and manage risk?
- How can you incorporate risky play into your child care program/home?
